Əziz ADAlılar,

Maraqlı müraciət formasıdır, deyilmi? Bildiyimiz kimi, Azərbaycan dilində “lı”, “li”, “lu” şəkilçiləri insanın müəyyən yerə, məkana aid olduğunu, bağlılığını bildirir. Məncə, ADA məktəbinin hər bir şagirdi, müəllimi, administrativ işçisi, bu böyük kollektivin hər bir üzvü ADAlı adlandırıla bilər. Jurnalımızın adı da elə buradan yarandı – ADAlılar.

Hər birimizin həyatında məktəb mühüm bir rol oynayır, məktəblə unudulmaz xatirələrimiz bağlıdır. Bu xatirələr bizim üçün ona görə doğma və dəyərlidir ki, burada ilk dostlarımızı qazanırıq, ilk nailiyyətlərimizə sevinirik, uğursuzluqlarımıza kədərlənirik, ilk müəllimlərimizlə tanış oluruq, vətəndaş kimi formalaşırıq. Bu günün şagirdləri sabah “həyat” adlanan dalğalı dənizə öz xırda qayıqları ilə səyahətə çıxacaqlar. O dalğalar onları hara aparacaq, kim bilir... Məktəb olaraq, vəzifəmiz bu bilik qayıqlarını daha möhkəm etmək, şagirdlərə düzgün yol göstərmək, onları layiqli vətəndaş kimi formalaşdırmaqdan ibarətdir.

ADA məktəbində şagirdlərə müstəqil qərar verməyi, özünü ifadə etməyi, sosial aktiv olmağı öyrədirik. Bunun üçün biz, məktəb administrasiyası olaraq, var gücümüzlə işləyirik – uşaqlarda hər hansı talantı müəyyən edərək, onu inkişaf etdirməyə, şagirdlərlə müxtəlif sosial-mədəni layihələr üzərində çalışırıq. Bu layihələrdən biri də ADAlılar jurnalıdır. Düşündük ki, şagirdlərin öz mətbu orqanı olsun, amma, ənənəvi divar qəzeti kimi yox, daha müasir, parlaq jurnal formasında. İstədik ki, burada uşaqlar öz fikirlərini, onları narahat edən məsələləri, məktəb və məktəbdən kənar həyat barədə düşüncələrini elə öz dillərində ifadə etsinlər. Eyni zamanda, jurnalistikanın bir növ əsaslarını öyrənsinlər, məsələləri düzgün və obyektiv işıqlandırmağı bacarsınlar, Zati-Aliləri “Söz”-dən istifadə etmək vərdişlərinə yiyələnsinlər. Necə alındığına siz qiymət verin. Amma çox da tələbkar olmayın – bu, ADA məktəbinin şagirdlərinin intellektual məhsulu olan bir həvəskar jurnaldır və rəsmi xarakter daşımır.

İmkandan istifadə edərək, hamınızın qarşından gələn Yeni İl bayramınızı təbrik edirəm. Qoy 2020 hər bir ADAlıya bol-bol uğurlar gətirsin!

Dear Reader,

Hello and welcome to the first ever edition ADALILAR – ADA school’s official magazine. This is our December 2019 edition and it will be the first and last magazine we’ll release in 2019 since, in a couple of days, the long-awaited winter break will start and the decade will end! You may be wondering what the hell is this magazine, why we have one, or even why you should read it. Well, in our magazine, we’ll have articles on interesting topics, catch you up on the school’s news, student accomplishments, and display gorgeous photos of the students and the school. Our goal is to unite the school and make something that is enjoyable for you all to read. As to why you should even flip past this page, well there’s a plenty of interesting articles and photos of students that we have gathered.

Thank you to our team and many helpers. A big thanks to our lovely photographers – Kamilla Akhundova, Khavar Kalantarli, Nuray Ismayilova, Kamran Mammadov, columnists – Susan Jafarova, Alasgar Sadigov, Arif Gasilov, Logman Mammadov, Elvar Mammadov, Vagif Huseynov, Shahla Azizova, Kamilla Akhundova, Khavar Kalantarli, and Nuray Ismayilova.

And a very special thanks to Samir Javadov for helping us with all our challenges and making sure we’re doing the magazine correctly.

I’m proud to present our first edition and let’s look forward to more editions, new ideas and future additions. Honestly, just good luck to us as finals are coming!

A DAY AT ADA

Monday, 06:45 a.m.:

Alarm starts ringing* - time to wake up*

"One more school day... Am I supposed to be happy or sad?! Okay, I'll just get my breakfast, put my clothes on and then leave."

This is how most students at ADA School would start their day like, but what does it mean? Is school boring and exhausting or fun and full of joy? Or does it just depend on you?

Monday, 08:00 a.m.:

Teacher comes to class

"Today, I promise!!! I'll be more attentive and have more productive day. Just need to focus on lesson... nothing else"

After 30 minutes

"Wait, what was teacher talking about??? Oh no... I lost my focus again"

I believe this kind of situation is quite relatable, but let's go ahead and see what happens next. It is just beginning of the day.

Monday, 09:00 a.m.:

"Why do breaks end so fast??? Ugh, I am not in mood for one more lesson, and the day has just started. What did I do to deserve this? I guess I'll just sleep during this period."

Well, if we continue thinking and acting like this, of course we will end up hating school. Complaining all the time and being lazy will make the school day really boring.

Monday, 09:50 a.m.:

“Yaaaaas!!!! Finally! A 20 minutes break. What to do??
Yes, I know what to do”

At ADA School, every day after second period, students get a 20 minutes break. This is when they all can meet each-other, gather to play some fun games, go to canteen (if needed) to get some food / drinks or just sit, have conversations with friends and chill. This break is probably one of students' favorite time at school.

After the break, students have to attend two or three more classes depending on when they have their lunch time. The lunch break is either from 12:00 p.m. to 01:10 p.m. or from 01:00 p.m. to 02:10 p.m. During the lunch time, students can have their lunches together with their friends, go out and walk, play any kind of games (board games, card games, football, basketball etc.) and so on. P.S. this break is also one of students' favorite period at school.

Monday, 03:00 p.m.:

“I can't believe it... Only one lesson left and can finally go home”

Monday, 04:00 p.m.:

“Bye, teacher”

Yay! This guy who has been complaining since very first lesson can finally go home.

This is just regular day at ADA School, but it is not just all about this. There are some extra events organized by school's administration or ADA's Student Council which students can attend. Those activities make school more entertaining and can be a good source of motivation for them.

P.S. Lessons are not supposed to be boring, actually. As I mentioned before, it depends on you. Whether it's science or history or language class, there are always so many new things to learn which are very fascinating. Participating in class will make it more interesting for you and is going to affect your grade positively.

This is about how a daily life of an ADA School might look like.

A GREAT SCHOOL

School. What a great name, a place where you study, you learn, and you create your own future. It is a second home of every student. At this point, the first school that comes to your mind is ADA School. In ADA School, I observe warm relationships between teachers, administration and students. At this school, every thought of student is respected and approached individually. For high quality education this school provides all infrastructure. I would say that ADA School can compete with lots of other schools in all over the world. Shortly, it is the school which every student dream of and wants to study in!

LIFE AT ADA

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

I am Alasgar Sadigov, The President of the Student Council
Government of ADA school.

In this article I am writing to inform you about student council's achievements and events that took place in the month of November. The Student Council worked and put in all their effort to make ADA a better place and more enjoyable place for everyone. In the month of November, official ADA school football team- 'ADA RAPTORS', was set up and it played against two other international school's teams. The ADA raptors

Another football-related event was the ADA School Football Championship. In this championship, 8 excellent and skilled teams competed to win. The final match consisted of Nakchivan FC and Team 5; team 5 won the championship. More exciting championships will take place soon!

One more event that the student council helped to organize was the Colimpiads that took place in ADA. In this very entertaining activity, groups of students competed against each other in various different games. Winner of this amazing competition was Team 3 from the Group C which was led by Ms. Esmira Tahirova and Ms. Arkinaz Rasulzada!

The Student council set up a suggestion box, which helps students to solve their problems and contribute their ideas to the Student Council. This box is located in the student lounge, so go check it out!

Student Council also organized a charity event to raise money from orphans in "Nur usaq evi". Students donated money, clothes, food, amenities, and more. StuCo members visited "Nur usaq evi" and donated the products and spent time with the children.

If you think this is all that StuCo did for school this month, you are mistaken! Student Council started planning and selling tickets for the ADA's got talent. Hope to see you there!

And if you are reading this, that means ADA StuCo made another accomplishment and released the long-awaited ADA journal.

“What I advise you to do is to listen to me during the lesson and if I do something wrong in your opinion just tell that to me as a feedback. That would be great. Oh... and practice what I teach, it will be easier to learn it that way.”

Mr. Elmin Gasimov

Q1: What phone do you prefer? IOS or Android?

Ans: I prefer Android, yes, but I use one plus like the Chinese model because I'm used to that and I like the operating system.

Us: So, the operating system of Android is better than IOS?

Ans: Yea, and this is like, if we take the comparison or the price and the quality then I think Android is better.

Q2: What do you think will be the future of technology?

Ans: Um...I think we are switching to the, let's say to the step, where we want to make everything portable and having access to the internet, to any services very quickly. So maybe we are going to have some hybrid of a phone and the computer that is going to be like you have a phone, then you do some transformation over it and it becomes a computer, so whatever you need right now. Like instead of having several devices, maybe we will have only one. We are going to get all the technology and functions inside of one.

Q3: Do you have any interesting or fun stories from your teaching experience?

Ans: Fun or interesting stories...so I won't remember the stories if you just ask me that. If there is some association over it, I might remember something. Nothing comes to my mind that would be too much interesting... but in this school the thing that made me laugh a lot were the guys who tried to fool me, like, giving me the other work but knowing that I'm an IT teacher and I might guess it. Their attempt to cheat was very stupid. The attempt to cheat was failing from the very beginning, like I see the name of one guy, let's say Abbas, and another guy who is Iskender, and I know another guy was going to upload it. He didn't even change the name of the file. Yes, so I can even guess it's not their work, like what kind of cheating is that.

Q4: Were there any subjects you failed or struggled with?

Ans: In school? Actually, I finished everything with an A. No subjects I struggled with. I don't know if you have this subject now but I had this subject Drafting. It's not really like arts. We had to do some kind of engineering. I really hated it. Overall, I still passed it with an A, but that A was like the thing I put the most effort in. I hated everything about it, all the details. That's why I like decoding. Yes, it doesn't always look good but at the same time it still works. No one cares about the detailed and good-looking version of it, only if you are a perfectionist. I like the result more.

Q5: What advice would you give to our fellow ADA students?

Ans: So, for my students, I would advise you to give me feedback on things that are hard for you. I try to make my lessons not that hard. Even if the feedback is not the most constructive, I will still try to understand the reason of it. The feedback is very important to me. So, what I advise you to do is to listen to me during the lesson and if I do something wrong in your opinion just tell that to me as a feedback. That would be great. Oh... and practice what I teach, it will be easier to learn it that way.

“When you come, you don’t just come for lessons and go home after.”

communication teacher

Q.: Could you please describe your time studying at ADA?

S.S.: It was a great experience- one of the greatest in my life. The words I would describe it with are experience, opportunity and network.

Q.: What were some of your challenges and what were some of your successes?

S.S.: My biggest challenge was when I had to come back from the Netherlands and my peers were supposed to graduate by 2018. So, I lost one of my years back in Rotterdam, and I had to study extra hard and take extra classes every semester to catch up. In the end, I managed to graduate in three years and catch up. The hardest challenges are usually the greatest successes, so that was my challenge and success.

Q.: What did you enjoy the most throughout your journey at ADA?

S.S.: I think what ADA is different from other universities, at least, in Azerbaijan in that, when you come, you don’t just come for lessons and go home after. When you come here you know you're reserved for the rest of the day; you leave at least 6, 7, 8 hours after your classes are over, because we've had fun with our friends- ordering food, staying late nights, playing mafia games and everything- so it was pretty fun.

Q.: What advice would you give to our follow ADA school students?

S.S.: My ultimate advice to every ADA student would be the following: so many students complain that it’s hard to study... I don't know and that the teachers are picky. Of course, not everything is perfect, there are certain imperfections for sure, but if you want to study- want to achieve something in terms of your academic stance, then ADA provides you with all opportunities wholeheartedly. This is up to you whether you want to use them or not right, and uh if you didn't use them timely, then it will be too late to think about it. On the contrary, saying that it is hard to study at ADA- I don't agree with this statement. I think it's hard to get high grades in ADA, that's not easy, but just studying at ADA, maintaining your GPA for it to be higher than 2, is not a very difficult target. With a little bit of time management and application of some useful strategies to manage your stress, energy and all other external factors, you can do well and doing well is somewhere in the middle.

Şeir nədir bilirsən?
Sözlərin toplusumu?
Desəm yox.
Cümlələrin yığıcı?
Desəm yox.
Hərflərin birliyi?
Desəm yox.
Soruşsan ki, bəs nədir?
Deyil sözlərin toplusu,
O, bir film senarisi
O, iki bəndində göstərir bir sujeti
Nə isə - birdə soruşum,
Şeir nədir bilirsən?
O ki, ilham pərisi qonur saf ürəyə,
O ki, məcbur edir səni söz deməyə,
O ki, bütün sevginlə alırsan qələmi
Yazırsan qəlbinin ən böyük şeirini..
Yenə soruşum,
Şeir nədir bilirsən?
O ki, yazanda deyir: - Göstər məni,
Göstər ki, görsün bütün aləm məni
Ürəyimin ürəyinə toqquşmasını yəni...
Gəl birdə soruşum,
Şeir nədir bilirsən?
Artıq bu son misralar, həm də son izahlar.
Yormam artıq özümü...
Şeirin son halında, bu mənim son
sözlərim
Sənə son dəyişim.
Bir də səndən soruşum
Şeir nədir bilirsən?!

PHENOMENAL POETRY

THE WEEK OF LONG MIDTERMS

“Let me check my alarm and see if it is set for 06:45 a.m. tomorrow. Ugh, I wish I could’ve had more time to sleep. I am so exhausted and need rest. I have studied too much... anyway”.

We all probably were thinking something similar to this every day before going to school, during the mid-term week (yes, I’ll just call it a week – a mid-term week). During this week, pupils were tested on the things they had learned through half of the semester. However, does it mean that we were stressed out? Well... good question. A good question needs a good answer, doesn’t it?

Every student wants to see good results on their Blackboard account, but those results require too much hard work. The mid-term week has been quite tiring, yet interesting for the students of ADA School. Imagine, along with exams, if we had lessons as well. A nightmare, right? So, it is safe to say ADA students are lucky enough.

Students attended exams from 5th of November to 8th of November. On the first two days of exams, 10th graders could leave before 11th graders, because they didn’t have exams from pre-calculus.

On the 7th and 8th of November, every member of the school was free after 11:30 a.m.

The last day – November 8th was a little more different than the rest of the days for some students. The communication & My ADA teacher Saleh Sani organized a “Team Building Challenges Competition”. The main aim of this was to organize something fun for students, also help them release stress after the challenging week. Students could show off their skills at these games.

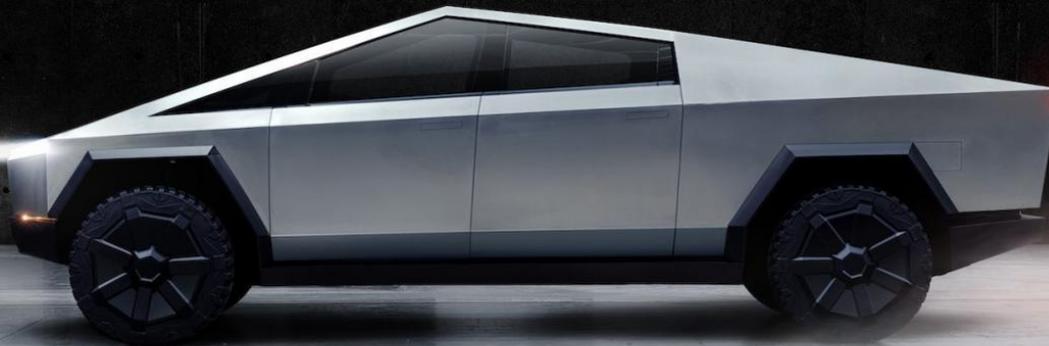

The mid-term week was only 4 days, but we can say that it was a very long one. Maybe it passed quick, but the amount of work that was put in, during that week, is something that we can’t define with words... I know, too extra. Actually, it was all about taking off 2-3 hours (or more if students need) and revising everything you’ve studied, trying to remember them all. This week was not about overworking, more likely about and working and resting. The other way of getting ready for exams is just drinking a cup of tea and watching TV, because exhausting yourself won’t let you do well on exam. For instance, me – the author of this article – I personally spent this week like any other one. I believe the health matters the most, whether it is physical or mental. We should put self-care before anything else, but as well as focus on our education and try to not to be lazy, so we could see the color green more often on the section of “My Grades” on our Blackboard account.

TECH AND SHOES

The Tesla Cybertruck is a newly unveiled electric-battery-power battery-powered SUV vehicle developed by Tesla, Inc. Its demo was performed on the 21st of November 2019. Three models have been already been announced, with battery power estimates of 400-800 km and an approximated 0–60 mph acceleration time of 3.0 to 6.4 seconds, depending on the model. The construction will use a special alloy of stainless steel and titanium, designed by Tesla itself for maximum strength and lightness. The price of the base vehicle will start at $39,900, with AWD versions beginning at $49,900. As of November 24th, there are already 150,000 orders for the super-popular SUV, as declared by Elon Musk, the CEO of Tesla.

On the other hand, in the fashion sneakers market, Adidas continues its strong rise to sneaker fame by releasing its new Adidas Yeezy 350 V3, also known as the Yeezy 380 "Alien", which implements a futuristic design, although looking similar to the 350 V2s from the front angle. It also features an upgraded boost midsole for that extra support and comfort we all need. The new Air Jordan "What the 4" is also dropping this week, so be sure to keep an eye out for those in online retail stores. While on the topic of sneakers, the Adidas Yeezy 500 Slate is also dropping, as are the Air Jordan Retro 6 Travis Scotts.

ADVICE AREA

By Khavar Kalantari

You know how you feel when you've discovered the ideal pair of pants that outlines everything? All things considered, that is actually how your certainty ought to be. Without having fearlessness, you'll effectively fall into the lures of doubt and instability.

Remember confidence is a work in progress, for example, learning a game or an instrument- - and, although these 6- moment confidence supporters may just lift your self-confidence briefly, you may very well accomplish something you've never done. Gathering solid proof that you are awesome and can achieve anything in the will make you feel awesome.

1. Smile

Truly, it sounds so cliché, yet you should smile and flaunt your magnificent white pearls! A grin can push the idea of stress away, clearing for a more joyful you!

2. Kill Negative Thoughts

Know about your self-meditation. When you change your negative musings into positive considerations, awesome things start to occur. So, don't let yourself know "I'm worn out, I should stop." Instead, let yourself know "I got this, I'm nearly there." Just continue onward and keep up those great energies.

3. Become a Bobble-Head

Jam out to your favorite songs nodding your head along. This movement can insist on the word "YES" and improve confidence in your thoughts!

4. Exercise

Break a sweat! Beside physically profiting by working out, it functions as mental nourishment also. Studies show the more you work out the less focused on you are, executing more certainty.

5. Curse out LOUD (not during school hours)

Swearing can make you feel increasingly engaged in this manner boosting confidence. Simply be careful where you decide to drop the "F" bomb, you would prefer not to be jobless or never again getting your grandmas treats.

6. Admire Compliments

Frequently praise can worsen the way you feel about yourself because of accepting what praise they give isn't valid - however, there is actually nothing superior to getting real sincere praise, for example, a birthday card, compensate or an old message. So read those old writings from your mother or a companion when you're needing the shock of certainty.

Try these awesome tips, Collegiettes and stay confident! After all, you're amazing.

CHESS OF THRONES

There was a chess tournament called "CHESS OF THRONES" at ADA campus. All the ADA community – students, faculty, staff and alumni participated in this tremendous event. Our School students were also invited.

Our chess players – Fail Bakikhanov, Aydan Hasanli, Ilkin Hasanov, Alpay Najafov, Malik Malikov, Elman Hasanli, Tugay Alishov, Aykhan Huseynli, Raul Hasanov, Shahhuseyn Mammadov Played well and "fought" selflessly. They did not get places in the tournament, but they gained an experience which is even more important.

PHOTOS OF THE MONTH

During this month we hosted a photo competition. We have noticed that there are many talented photographers in our student body, and we wanted to showcase your skills! Many stunning photographs were submitted and here's our top three picks. Thank you to all those who submitted photos and congrats to the winners!

First place goes to...

Sadə bir yaz gecəsi ailəmlə gəzintidə olanda necə möhtəşəm bir anın içində olduğumun fərqi nə vardı. Təsadüfən çəkilmiş bu şəkil o an hiss etdiyim bütün əvəzolunmaz duyğuları, hüzuru və azadlığı özündə əks etdirir. Əgər o an hiss etdiyim hər duyğu rəssamın palitrasında bir rəng olsa idi ortaya çıxacaq rəsm bu şəkildəki rəng qanunauyğunluğuna sahib olardı.

Hər zaman “Ən sevdiyiniz fəsil hansıdır?” -sualına : “Hər fəslin öz gözəlliyi vardır. “-deyə cavab vermişəm. İnanıram ki, bəziləriniz də mənimlə eyni fikirdəsiniz. Lakin, hər il payız gəldiyində özümə bəlkə də yalan deyirəm deyə düşünürəm. Axı, qeyri-adi rəngləri, təbiətin səssizliyini və yağışın narın damllarını özündə cəmləşdirən əsrarəngiz payız mənə digərlərindən daha səmimi və doğma gəlir!

Təbiətin hər cəhətdən bol olduğu bu mövsüm hamı-şairlər, yazıçılar, rəssamlar və təbiətə dəyər verən insanlar tərəfindən üstün tutulur. Axı niyə də üstün tutulmamalıdır?! Payızdan başqa hansı fəsildə ətrafı qızılı, hər bir zərrəsi müxtəlif gözəllikdə, heyranedicə rəngdə görə bilərsiniz?! Başqa hansı fəsildə ağacdən təzə qoparılmış narın yarpaq və budağının yağışla birlikdə ət rafa özünəməxsus ətir saçdığını hiss edə bilərsiniz?! Məncə, heç bir fəsildə.

Ghost don't exist ... or do they?

A ghost is a spirit of a dead person. Stories about ghosts were made up all over the world. Every culture has their own traditions of ghosts, many people claimed that they saw or even felt them. Scientifically, ghosts are not proven, although there are a lot of TV shows that try to prove that ghosts are real. No one actually knows what ghosts are exactly- are they invisible? Or human souls? Or some kind of energy? Everyone has their own thoughts and opinions on them and what a ghost really is. The only thing we know about them is that "ghost" came to us from the past, and that there were a lot of stories made up about them. But do they exist, this is a question we will never find an answer to... unless these ghost stories are proof!

"The Black Baron at Pikk-Jalg 14

This modest house is haunted by the Black Baron. Usually, he is not seen; only the candle he carries walks around, lighting the rooms. Doors unlock on their own, and things go missing all the time here. The Baron though is not a nobleman at all but a goldsmith. Goldsmith of great skill who sold his jewelry both to the upper and lower town. But he also practiced black magic, and everything he made was cursed. People who wore his creations died soon after. The goldsmith never found rest having cursed himself along with his works. Needless to say, that one should never keep jewelry found lying around in this house."

-written by Liine Toomse, "visit Tallinn"

"THE GHOST AT HOME

Last night a friend rushed me out of the house to catch the opening act at a local bar's music night. After a few drinks I realized my phone wasn't in my pocket. I checked the table we were sitting at, the bar, the bathrooms, and after no luck I used my friend's phone to call mine. After two rings someone answered, gave out a low raspy giggle, and hung up. They didn't answer again. I eventually gave it up as a lost cause and headed home. I found my phone laying on my nightstand, right where I left it."

Fun Facts

1. The unicorn is the national animal of Scotland. Although this might seem like an odd choice, Visit Scotland explains that unicorns played an integral role in the country's history. Back in the 12th century, William I used the "proud beast" in the Scottish royal coat of arms.

2. "E" is the most common letter and appears in 11 percent of all English words. The next most popular letter was "a," which appears in around 8.5 percent of all words. The least common letter is "q," which appears in just 0.2 percent of words.

3. Water makes different pouring sounds depending on its temperature.

4. Koalas have fingerprints. Chimpanzees and gorillas have human-like fingerprints and so do koalas. In fact, koala prints are very similar to human fingerprints, even to expert crime scene investigators.

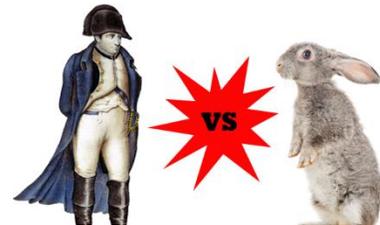

As of yet, no koalas have framed humans for their crimes, but now we know it's not impossible...

5. Chinese police use geese squads. As of 2013, 12 police stations in a rural area of China have begun to use geese as sentries. They are alert animals and, as you probably know, can create a lot of noise and commotion, which creative Chinese law enforcement officers are taking advantage of.

6. The first iPhone wasn't made by Apple. The first mobile device to be called an iPhone was made by Cisco, not Apple. It allowed the user to use the voice functions of Skype without a computer. Apple announced its own product just 22 days later, and Cisco sued for trademark infringement. The lawsuit was ultimately settled out of court and both companies were allowed to keep using the name. However, you've probably never heard of the Cisco iPhone.

7. The man who wrote Dracula never visited Transylvania. Despite Stoker's many world travels, he never visited Eastern Europe – and, Transylvania, at all.

8. Napoleon was once attacked by thousands of rabbits.

9. Sharks can live for five centuries. Greenland Sharks are known to be some of the oldest living animals in our world. Researchers did carbon dating on a Greenland Shark that was caught in 2014 and found it to be around 393 years old. Further testing revealed that our fishy friends could be up to 500 years old. Yes, that would mean that our geriatric friends would have been alive when Leonardo Da Vinci painted "Mona Lisa"

1ST ADA School Intellectual Game

Saturday November 23th marked an important day for ADA – the 1st ever ADA School Intellectual Games Championship! Volunteers from each class formed groups and the battle of wits between the twelve classes begun. Questions about movies, science, math, logic, and basic knowledge challenged the groups. After six rounds of questioning, all papers were collected, phones were returned, and the winner was revealed – well, the three winners.

At the top of the scoreboard were 10A2, 10B1, and 10C1; the teams were all tied for first place with a total of 24 points (honorable mention to 10A1 for finishing fourth place with 23 points...so close). To settle this tie, a quick round of magic was set in place. A member was chosen from each of the three teams and they had two minutes to list as many Harry Potter characters as they could.

10A2 won third place, 10C1 won second place, and 10B1 won the first-place prize with Shahla's impressive knowledge of Harry Potter. The winners all got gift certificates to Cinnabon and enjoyed the treats afterwards.

The games were amazing (especially for me, that Cinnabon was great) and everyone enjoyed themselves with the brain-racking riddles. We hope for a second round soon!

Trip to “Balakhani Eco-Industrial Park”

“Təmiz Şəhər” was appointed as the managing organization of the “Balakhani Eco-Industrial Park”, and seven hectares of land in the village of Balakhani was allocated for the creation of a park. The creation of the industrial park of Balakhani serves to expand the production of highly competitive industrial products based on high technologies, improve the non-oil sector, including the development of the "green economy", increase employment, and improve the ecological situation in Baku and adjacent settlements. In the industrial park of Balakhani built external and internal infrastructure, roads, electricity, gas, water, sewerage and communication lines, created the necessary communication system, production areas, offices and operational buildings.

On the 25th of November 2019, 20 students from the ADA school went to the Balakhani Eco-Industrial Park to see and learn how the process of recycling and the ridding of materials that could not be recycled. They got to look through the cameras and see how the selection and recycling process works while a professional explained. They later got to go into the burning facility’s control room and see how the 6 ton lifting crane was operated as well as how the waste was burned to ashes.

Emil Jivishov: "Not everything you learn at school will be immediately useful in your life."

Q1. What do you enjoy the most about teaching in ADA?

The most enjoyable thing is the diversity of students because, since I teach chemistry, the level of students varies- some of them had chemistry before, some didn't have. So that's where actually to me, the teaching is valuable, because it's easy to teach the students who have the same level- let's say if they are already highly motivated to learn something, so there is not much work left for the teacher. But the teaching becomes valuable when the student doesn't want to learn, and teacher must motivate the student to make him/her learn. Student may still not love the subject, but at least experience enjoyable learning process. The challenge to motivate is enjoyable to be honest.

Q2. Were there any subjects you failed or didn't like in school?

Yes, I failed chemistry - I failed it when I first took it. I was in a private school. We had one year for English language preparation, a kind of foundation, where we took only language and that made me kind of... unmotivated when I started 9th grade. It was hard for me to get back on track. Subjects were easy from the start, but then I realized they were getting harder and I failed because I didn't learn the material. That motivated me, and I taught myself chemistry from the very beginning and developed beneficial personal study habits. I even got appreciation from the teacher; he said thank you for coming from zero to upper intermediate.

Q3. What could you do if you were not a teacher?

Yea, I would be either in IT or research, in past I worked in both fields for long years. Lab research or teaching were already what I thought about during high school. In high school, I subconsciously observed the teachers and I would analyze their teaching methods and made remarks for myself, like "if I was a teacher how would I teach or not teach those topics". So, subconsciously, I liked teaching. If you can make difference with your efforts, then the job is enjoyable. Same with the scientific research, where you can see the difference and progress as you find something new, discover it and benefit humanity.

Q4. What part of chemistry should students never forget?

Carbon makes 4 bonds. In the middle of the fight or in the middle of the night, you never forget that carbon makes 4 bonds.

Q5. Any stories from old school you can share?

Umm... let me think... We have done crazy things back then. I don't think some of them would be appropriate to repeat here. One of the things we did, I think it was before the New Year. Back then we had firecrackers available on sale, so what we would do- in the chairs there were metallic beams and plastic covers, so we would fire up a firecracker and throw inside of the metal beam and close it and then observe the cover jump up to the ceiling. The school was only for boys, so we would do such crazy things. During class breaks we also went crazy or creative, because we didn't have cell phones to keep us busy. For example, we played mini football with paper balls. Also, when we had P.E., we could throw sport shoes at each other in the classroom. One time like one of the sports shoes got right up, touched the ceiling and left a very nice footprint. As we were very noisy, the assistant principal came in, and he was angry with us. He started telling us to calm down and suddenly he saw the footprint. He said: "I don't care about the noise, just explain how that got on the ceiling". These are some of the crazy stories I still remember.

Q6. What advice would you give to our fellow ADA students?

Yes, there is a lot of advice to give actually. The main one is to get the most benefit from spending time here. First of all, try to enjoy the lessons, like I hear especially for science subjects, students say they never had chemistry and I see how students give up and as they don't like it. I suggest you to be more proactive. Start searching on the internet how you can apply it to real life. How knowledge they gained will make them smarter, wiser and succeed in the future life. Yes, not everything you learn at school will be immediately useful in your life. Unfortunately, there is no ideal educational system in the world right now. A lot of debate is going on about this topic. At this age you should also learn how to be responsible and independent. In every class you have very interesting topics to learn. Even if your grades are not the best, still you shouldn't lose the joy of learning. This would be my advice.

A HOUSE WHERE DREAMS LIVE

On the 23rd of November, the members of the Student Council visited Nur Ushaq Evi, an orphanage in Ramada district, to provide the kids and caretakers with necessary supplies, and have an amazing time with the kids. In addition to trying hard academically, ADA School pupils organize and join social events to give back to the community.

The visitors of the orphanage were Alasgar Sadigov, Atabey Jamili, Xaver Kalantarli, Vagif Gasimov, and Vagif Huseynov.

They were taken and supervised by Mr Samir Javadov.

Most importantly, with only an hour of their time, they managed to create everlasting memories and smiles on the faces of the kids.

This was most definitely an amazing experience for both the visitors and the children.

Such events are definitely being planned in the foreseeable future, with more pupils from the classes of our school. Let's remember, a helping hand is way better than a pointing finger.

A short period of your time can significantly improve one's life.

Although thought provoking, it was an amazing experience, and we- the STUCO – will try our best to organize more such trips with all of you helping and contributing in any way, shape or form.

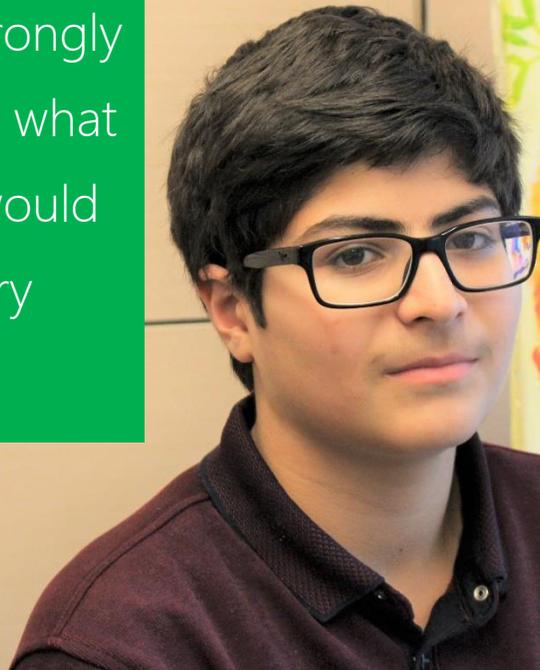

Whether it is with generous donations or even more preferably joining us on our trips to spend time with the children and bolster their moods. You all will be updated as soon as possible! Let's create a better world all together.

Tugay Alishov:

“When I am strongly interested with what I am doing, I would value my victory much more.”

On behalf of ADA School, we would like to congratulate 10C1 student Tugay Alishov with winning silver medal in Azerbaijan Championship of Sports Shooting. Congratulations on your success, Tugay!

In interview conducted with Tugay by Ulviyya Sultanli, we found where his interest to sports shooting stems from, what does he like about shooting sports the most and Tugay’s views on gun laws and hunting.

Tugay, please tell us a little bit about the shooting sports and the club you go to.

At the club they first inform you about the weapon itself – how you’re supposed to use it, how to shoot, when you are allowed to load it, they tell you about the safety policy and the rules that you are meant to strictly follow; otherwise you can either be disqualified or get fined from the organization – it is quite expensive financially, and on top of that, if you own a shotgun, it can be confiscated by the government. The shooting club is quite a small place, but they have targets for all kinds of weapons.

How long have you been doing shooting sports? How did you get into doing that?

Approximately 3 or 4 years. My father is very much into that and we have been going there since my childhood, it is just that I never had strong interest in it – I was mainly going to watch my father. For some period we were going to Ganja shooting club where I tried the handgun shooting, we went to shoot in Antalya club as well... And then my father said that if I am so good at aiming the target, let’s sign you up for the shotgun shooting. I said no problem, so I started off with that and as I gradually developed a stronger interest, I wanted to participate in championships. I have been using my father's old shotgun. My teacher, Arif muellim – he has been in shooting sports for over 40 years and I have been lucky to work with him, he has been helping me in training – pointing out my mistakes, helping me get better and we actually have one more competition this weekend.

Wow, really? Good luck in that one! It seems like you are really involved with shooting sports. What do you love the most about shooting sports?

Actually, the weapons – I have liked them since childhood, when I was just playing with toys, and then I memorized their names by heart. I wanted to go to the army and work in military to protect the country. Now I am just doing the shooting sports as a hobby and if before that I was very much into video games, now I shifted my attention to the shooting sports and different kinds of weapons – I would disassemble and assemble them.

Is it your first success in shooting sports?

Yes, it is. I actually have not competed before. For the first 3-4 years my visits to the club were quite scattered and irregular, and then I started participating much more actively in the last 6 months and my trainer suggested to me to participate among other kids of my age category. I won the second place and I think that after just 6 months of more active training, this result is quite good.

It definitely is! Well deserved. How did it feel to be one of the winners?

I actually did not realize it at first. I somehow thought that I was on 5th or 6th place – during the competition we were shooting mixed up with adults, and I had not realized at the moment that those are two different age categories, so when I got informed that I got the 2nd place it was great news. I told my parents, told my father, they were really happy for me as well.

It is normal that we do not win all the time, sometimes we have to face failure, but many people consider it very challenging. Is it difficult for you to lose?

Sometimes it is difficult – for example I had some failure when I used to play basketball, and actually as I said, I had not realized that I got the 2nd place in that shooting competition right away – and that short period of time felt quite heavy, I felt upset, I was thinking how am I going to share the bad news with my parents and so on. But I would say that overall it depends on my current level of enthusiasm. If I am competing just for the sake of it without any interest to the subject – I do not really care if I win or lose, even if I win I would think "It does not matter, I competed just for fun", but when I am strongly interested with what I am doing, I would value my victory much more as well. The same goes for failure situations.

Tugay, would you like to continue shooting sports professionally in the future?

I would like to continue it as a hobby if I have time, to go with family or friends. In future I would like to become a diplomat and I know I will not have much time for professional shooting.

How do you imagine a diplomat with a weapon in his hands?

(Laughing) I think it depends on the person – as long as you can control yourself while holding the weapon it does not matter. Someone who has anger control issues, and let's say, is doing sports shooting while being aware they have serious anger problems and they can potentially harm someone, they should not continue. For example, I am against having any weapons in the house.

In some countries it is legally allowed to carry weapon with you freely and have it in your house for self-defence purposes. What do you think about that?

I think it is wrong. It does not matter if you have a license of using the weapon or not – you do not have a right to harm any living soul except those people that are also licensed to hunt animals. But if you do have anger problems, you can harm someone. If that is the issue, I think they should take that gun they have and go to shooting club to blow off steam, rather than carry a gun with them – I personally find it disturbing.

Another example is the tradition of men in Caucasus to carry a push button knife with them. What is your opinion about that?

I personally have never carried a knife with me. I think they do it because they think they will threaten people with their knives, it makes them hope that they will be avoided because of that – but how do they know that a person in front of them is not physically stronger and will not show quicker reaction and disarm them? Many guys only carry a knife with them because they are worried, they will run into problems if they do not have one, so I would say that in a way it is a sign of weakness, rather than power.

Tugay, let's talk about hunting. What do you think about that concept: an armed man goes to nature to confront a bear, or a lion, or a tiger that is physically stronger, but vulnerable to the bullet. What is your opinion about people shooting animals that are simply not prepared for that encountering? Is it a fair situation?

I think the weapon in nature should be used mostly in self-defense, self-protection purposes. My father does hunt, but only for birds, because he can't catch them otherwise. For example, last year when my dad went hunting with his friends, they encountered wild boars that were about to attack my father. In that situation his friend was obligated to shoot to save his life. But I agree that generally speaking, if you are not subject to danger, it is unfair to shoot wild animals – if you encounter a bear, you know you're weaker and you simply take advantage of the weapon which is not right.

It was very nice talking to you. Congratulations again and good luck!

Thank you.

ADA MƏKTƏBİNİN ŞAĞIRDLƏRİ HEYDƏR ƏLİYEV MƏRKƏZİNİ ZİYARƏT ETDİLƏR

12 dekabr tarixində ADA Məktəbinin şagirdlərinin Heydər Əliyev Mərkəzinə ekskursiyası baş tutdu. Mərkəzin Bakıda xeyli vaxt fəaliyyət göstərməsinə baxmayaraq, bəzi uşaqlar burada ilk dəfə idilər. Mərkəzin binası şagirdləri öz gözəlliyi və əzəmətliyi ilə heyran etdi.

Mərkəzlə tanışlıq Heydər Əliyev muzeyindən başladı. Üç mərtəbədən ibarət muzeydə şagirdlər Azərbaycan xalqının ümummilli liderinin həyat və fəaliyyət yolunu, eləcədə Azərbaycan tarixinin mühüm dövr və hadisələrini əks etdirən maraqlı faktlar, foto və video materiallar və digər unikal eksponatlarla tanış oldular. Burada toplanan məlumatlar uşaqlara interaktiv formada çatdırıldı. Mərkəzin əməkdaşı burada nümayiş olunan hər bir eksponat barədə ətraflı məlumat verdi.

Mərkəzdə fəaliyyət göstərən “Kukla incəsənətdə” sərgisi də uşaqların marağına səbəb oldu. Sərgidə Azərbaycan, ABŞ, Almaniya, Avstraliya, Belarus, Belçika, Çexiya, Fransa, İsrail, İtaliya, Latviya, Rusiya, Şimali Kipr, İndoneziya, Ukrayna və Yaponiyanın tanınmış kuklaçı rəssamlarının əl işləri təqdim olunmuşdur. Burada sərgilənən müxtəlif ölçüdə və üslubda düzəldilən kuklalar öz gözəlliyi və zərifliyi ilə ADA məktəbi şagirdlərinin diqqətini cəlb etdilər. Şagirdlər mərkəzdə xatirə şəkillərini çəkməyi də unutmadılar.

ADA'S GOT TALENT

By Ulviyya Sultanli

What is significant on November 18, 2019 for the ADA School? After several weeks of hard work on every little detail and rehearsals until late in the evening, the public was presented with the first ADA School Talent Show.

18 students of grades 10 and 11 decided to show their talent to the public, which turned the show into a colorful, bright evening full of music, art, dance, humor and simply positive emotions.

The show began with the presentation of Fatima Mammadova, who conquered the audience with her emotional performance of the song of Lewis Capaldi - "Someone You Loved".

Zohra Demirbagh brought oriental notes to the show by performing on the canon and created a mystical atmosphere in the hall.

Susan Jafarova chose Ariana Grande's "Snow in California" for her entry and besides her beautiful singing, also surprised the audience with her original stage production.

Amina Akbarova's talent is poem recital that she handles so emotionally that it affects all the strings of the soul.

The bright, dynamic dance duo of Raul Khatamov and Nigar Huseynova was clearly on the list of audience sympathy.

Another memorable dance was staged by ADA school student Aylan Mammadli and her dance partner Rumeisa Yilmaz, in which they not only performed the dance, but also touched on social issues.

Yagut Mammadova chose the beloved "All I Want for Christmas is You" for her performance, which created a festive atmosphere.

Our two talented artists - Shakhla Azizova and Rashida Shakhmaliyeva, in addition to an interesting stage production, revealing their love of art, also staged a mini-exhibition with their artworks.

Alpay Najafov decided to bring national element to the show and delighted the audience with his flute performance of "Sevgili Canan".

Another appreciation of Azerbaijani national music was shown by Nargiz Mirzayeva in her beautiful singing of "Sari gelin".

Aysel Mammadova played EXO's Love Shot piano version, showing this dynamic piece in a completely different, softer and more gentle light.

Arif Gasilov has officially become ADA School's best rapper by rapping one of Eminem's fastest songs "Rap God".

While it's not the winning, it is the taking part that counts, jury still had to face the challenge of choosing three winners. Let's talk about them.

Farah Hasanzada's beautiful performance on ukulele and singing of James Arthur's "Say You Won't Let Go" led her to winning third place!

The funny guy – Faraj Valizada spoke about challenges of school life and made the audience burst into laughter with his stand-up comedy performance, this success helped him win the second place.

And finally, Leyla Tomayeva won the first place: her piano performance of Mozart's Turkish March had an original twist to it – it was the jazz version of the well-known sonata, and the originality of the choice along with Leyla's mastery won jury's and audience's hearts.

Leyla

Tomayeva:

“Nothing affects me as well as classical music.”

- How long have you been playing the piano?

I am in the tenth grade of a music school and accordingly I have been doing this for the tenth year.

- Have you participated in other contests previously? Tell us about it!

Of course, I did. From the first grade I participated in various contests, starting with school contests and ending with the Republican ones. I received the titles "Fəxri Fərman", "Diplomant" and "Laureate", and in every school contest I took the first places. I played at the concert dedicated to the 90th anniversary of Heydar Aliyev, at the concert dedicated to the 95th anniversary of Zarifa Aliyeva.

- Did you expect you would win? How did you feel when the jury called your name?

I assumed but wasn't sure, because I prepared the work on my own and in a very short time. The victory was a pleasant surprise. I am very happy to understand that I give people pleasure with my game.

- You chose quite an original entry - jazz version of Turkish March for your performance. What made you choose it?

I am a big fan of jazz music. I really liked this piece, and the jazz version won my heart.

- Who is your favorite classical composer and what is your favorite classical piece, if any?

I cannot name one favorite composer, because each of them I appreciate and listen with love. As for your favorite music - from the national it is Ildirimli Yollarla, Yeddi gozel, Arazbari. From foreign classics -Basso Ostinato, Waltz in C sharp minor op64, Rachmaninoff piano concerto 2, Handel - Sarabande and Second Waltz.

5.Why do you think it is important to listen to classical music?

I believe that classical music has a positive effect on the body, on nerves and on intellectual development. Personally, nothing affects me as well as classical music. It helps not only to cope with feelings, but also to express them.

- Do you think you will continue playing the piano professionally later in your life as well?

Of course, I will. Music means a lot to me. It is not just a hobby. It is something native to me. I relax when I play the piano. Music is a part of me, my lifestyle.

THIS WEEK'S MOVIES

What to expect to see in the theatre this week

By Elwar Mammadov

Hello there people, I hope your week is going good.

Welcome to the “movies and games corner” of the ADA School Magazine.

As an avid movie fan, I go to see a movie every week, but this week’s selection is a bit dry and I am sure that some of you have thought that as well. So, I have decided to use this opportunity to recommend a few movies to watch and not feel disappointed in yourself. I will recommend something for everyone so you can check to see which suits you best and watch. That being said, let’s begin.

FORD VS FERRARI

“FORD VS FERRARI” is a movie that tells the real life story of how Henry Ford II hired Carrol Shelby and Ken Miles to build the infamous Ford GT40, beat Ferrari 330 P4 at the 24 hour race at Le Mans and finally bring the Ford name on top once more.

The movie has more than enough car models and builds to keep a car guy interested through every second and it manages to have enough gripping human drama to keep a non-car enthusiast satisfied. Not to mention the amazing race scenes which will capture both car enthusiasts and non-car enthusiasts alike.

The cast also compliments the movie extremely well. The actors capture the emotions of the characters so well, you would think they are actually in that exact situation. The cast includes big names such as Matt Damon, Christian Bale, John Bernthal, Josh Lucas and many more.

Overall I give “Ford vs Ferrari” a 10/10 if you are a car enthusiast and a 9/10 if you are a non-car enthusiast.

MATT DAMON CHRISTIAN BALE
FORD v FERRARI

CHARLIE'S ANGELS

“Charlie’s Angels” is a story of a secret spy society saving the world piece by piece because, as said in the movie, “the governments can’t keep up”.

I’m gonna be honest here, this is the most cliché spy movie ever, right down to the secret gadgets, the comedy and the protagonists and antagonists.

The protagonists are 4 girls that include “the smart one”, “the strong one”, “the boss” and “the careless and funny one”. And yes, they have no other character trait whatsoever.

The antagonist is the cliché “we shall kill the weak so only the strong survive” type or something like that (he wasn’t that memorable) and “the assassin that doesn’t talk”. Again, no other character trait whatsoever.

Even with those flaws the movie is still good.

To quote my close friend, “there is a reason for it being cliché”. The characters, while being bland as hell, are still enjoyable to watch. Add that to the movie’s great fight choreography and you have yourself a pretty good 2 hours.

Overall, I give this movie a 6.5/10, enjoyable but you wouldn’t watch it twice. (though this one is a bit of a risk)

DOCTOR SLEEP

“Doctor Sleep” is the long-awaited continuation of the legendary movie known simply as “The Shining”.

It follows Danny Torrance, now an adult played by Ewan McGregor (not related to Connor McGregor), as he protects Abra, a little girl with the same supernatural abilities of Danny called “The Shining”, from Rose the hat, a few hundred-year-old woman that survives off of “The Shining” and is played by Rebeca Ferguson.

That recap was way too long but not nearly as long in comparison to the movie as the movie is 2 hours and 31 minutes.

The movie accomplishes what it wants to accomplish, as it is very disturbing, but that creep factor doesn’t really cross the line until that scene with [REDACTED] and how they [WORD REMOVED] and then they [CLASSIFIED DUE TO SPOILERS].

The movie’s pace is a tad bit too slow, but every scene is filmed extremely well and always accomplishes what it wants to do. Add that to the top notch acting and you have yourself a well spent 2 hours and 31 minutes.

Overall, I give this movie a 7.5/10 if you plan to watch it as a horror movie and another 7.5/10 if you plan to watch it as a comedy movie with your friend (though that completely relies on your sense of humor).
